To Detour Bulloch
On Way to Heaven

Statesboro calls itself the place "Where Nature Smiles," and it is a real good place to live, but it has never yet made special claim to immediate proximity to the road to the pearly gates.

Whether it is far or near, however, there is one lady who declares she is going to detour around Bulloch county if any other road should be taken.

In city court Monday there was a charge against a Savannah gentleman involving violation of the motor vehicle law. Some months ago he and his wife were passing through the county and had a collision with another car on the highway between Statesboro and Register.

The damage to the other car was above $60. The Savannah gentleman gave the owner the merry ha-ha when he was asked to pay the damages. The owner thereupon brought the Savannah man into court. A jury convicted him and he was fined $16.

The Savannah man had his wife with him in court and she was indignant—was vehement. "I hope to never again see or hear of Bulloch county," was the gist of her declaration.

"I would around the county if it were the only way I could get to the other side of the world," she said. "I would not go around the county if it were the only way I could get to the other side of the world," she said. "I would not go around the county if it were the only way I could get to the other side of the world," she said.

COUNTY SCHOOLS

We have plead, written and begged the fathers and mothers of the truant children to enter them in school. Many have done so, but others refuse to comply with our requests. It now appears that we shall have to issue warrants for the patrons who have so far failed to give attention to the Georgia compulsory school attendance law. This would bring about quite a bit of unpleasantness and would put a burden on those who are not at all able to pay court costs. Many patrons make a plea that they cannot buy books or clothing for their children. We doubt the truth of such statements. One certain person has made such a plea who is known to own a Ford and now runs it about over the county. How can a person own and operate a Ford car and justify himself in not sending his children to school? It looks like the best method to pursue will be to let such persons explain this kind of condition to the judge of the court. We are getting impatient with many who are refusing to send their children to the schools that are being operated for them. It is unfair and unjust to deprive the children of the opportunity of attending school and it must not be tolerated or permitted.

A person has to be in a good humor to smile or to hold an attitude of optimism or to write in a happy vein. When I go to prepare school news, about the first thing pops into my mind is how are we going to keep our schools from disaster. We school people feel that we are justifiable in feeling that the state is without a governor or at least without one who has the interest of the school children of the state at heart. We know that emergency measures could have been taken to have met the distressful emergency cast upon the schools of the state by the state's failure to meet its appropriations. We know that the only authority to remedy such rests with and in the governor, and when he says nothing and does nothing for the relief of the situation, we are the more keenly disappointed.

The Bulloch County P.-T. A. Council held a meeting on the 7th of December at which were present many of the representatives of the various P.-T. A. organizations of the county. Reports from the several organizations were made and plans for more efficient work made for the coming year. The real good work that is being done and has already been done by these organizations of the county is noticeable. Where a P.-T. A. has a definite program with well defined objectives, we know of no organization that will accomplish as much material good as this.

The fine increase in enrollment and daily attendance at the Cliftonville school is encouraging. A school spirit that means a successful school is really to be felt at the Cliftonville. The teachers are alive to the needs of the school are trying hard to give the best to the children in their charge. One cannot help but be impressed with the manifest interest shown in every department. Much work has already been done in the way of curriculum improvements and much more remains to be done before the grounds are as beautiful as they can and will be made. Naturally the grounds are well laid and it will be very easy to make the campus one that will be most attractive. The planting of trees and shrubbery and other needed work will make the grounds in keeping with the new and beautiful school building which is already well equipped.

For efficient work and generally favorable school spirit, it is not usual that one will find a school that surpasses the Leefield school. The teachers seem to be awake to the responsibilities of their jobs and are on their jobs in a way that means real advancement for the students in attendance. A modern system of supplying sanitary drinking water has been installed. The schools and campus seem to be well kept and the general appearance is favorable. Bulloch has no school campus with as many native trees and shrubs as are on the Lee-field campus. With a little more work, the Lee-field school campus will reach the ideal. Ample grounds with a lavish supply of native trees that are thrifty and beautiful.

Our Esala school is running as smoothly as any should expect. The teachers have the confidence and respect of the pupils and patrons and are operating without friction. The most favorable comment from Esala that has ever been heard for quite a while. Many of the Esala patrons have yet to realize the great importance of sending to school from the first day and every day of the school year.

Single Filling of Anti-Freeze Lasts All Winter

Because of the construction features of the cross flow radiator—exclusive in Oakland-Pontiac Sales—one filling of alcohol or anti-freeze solution is usually sufficient to carry these cars through an entire winter of driving. It is pointed out by R. A. Armstrong, service manager of the Oakland Motor Car Company.

"The cross flow radiator," he continued, "differs from the ordinary type of automobile radiator in that the water flows horizontally through the core instead of vertically. In the ordinary radiator hot water and vapor directly into a tank which is connected with the overflow pipe over the engine. The cross flow radiator has a separate cooling chamber for hot water and vapor returning from the engine which has no connection with the overflow pipe or filler neck, consequently in the cooling process the water and anti-freeze solution vapors are condensed back into liquid form. Through this system of evaporation of radiator liquid is negligible giving protection against freezing and insuring economy in consumption of anti-freeze solution."

TEACHERS COLLEGE

IF

(By LEONARD POWELL)
If I can sing some cheerful song
To help some weary soul along;
If I can travel along life's road,
And help my brother bear his load,
I shall not look for wealth and gold,
Nor for adventures great and bold.
If I can always lend a hand
To help some worthy fallen man;
If I can make his dark clouds bright,
And lead him to a Glistening Light,
I shall not care for renowned fame,
Nor for a great distinguished name.

If I can only serve mankind
With the best I have at any time,
And if I can be a friend to man,
And let him know I understand,
I shall not fear reproach or shame,
For then I shall not live in vain.

President Guy H. Wells has been appointed to head a committee of local citizens for the purpose of planning a Better Home campaign in Statesboro. The appointment was made from the national office in Washington, and the national organization is headed by Secretary Wilbur.

The following program was given at the weekly vesper service of the College Y. W. C. A.: Song, "Come, Thou Almighty King"; devotional, Vennie Clark; subject for the evening was "The Bible." Those taking part in the discussions were Josie Hutchinson, Grace Thomas, Jewell Durrence, Emily Moyer, Lois Burke and Elizabeth McGregor.

Miss Viola Perry, head of the mathematics department, read an interesting book on character development in chapel Thursday. The title of the book was "Are you a triangle or a circle?" by Mrs. Young, a national Y. M. C. A. worker, who was a recent visitor to the college.

Those spending the week end at home from East dormitory were Elizabeth Addison, Katherine Brett, Nora Zetterover, Reta Lee, Mildred Jones and Brunelle Deal, Statesboro; Agnes Lewis, Georgia Johnson, Rosalyn Walsh, Garfield, Marie Hendrix, Lucille Suddath and Kathleen Daugherty, Portals; Jane Watson, Register; Dora King, Oliver.

Miss Hulda Call spent the week end in Savannah.

Mrs. Lola E. Bell, dean of women, spent the week end in Savannah. The "Varsity Club," composed of letter men of the college, was formed during the week. Any student that has ever been awarded a letter in any sport of the college is entitled to membership in this club. Officers elected were: Paul Thompson, president; Lester Newton, vice-president; LaFlece Collins, secretary, and J. D. Fields, treasurer. The president appointed a committee to arrange and draw up the by-laws. Coach B. L. Smith, who presided at the organization, named a committee who would determine the qualifications for letters awarded in the different sports. School has been somewhat wrecked this week on account of the "Reflector" photographer, who has been here most of the week getting group and individual pictures for the annual.

Misses Madeline Turner and Blanche DeLoach were week end guests of Miss Sallie Hagin at Leefield.

Misses Willie Newton and Ethel Lee spent the week end with their parents in Brookline.

American Singer

To Tour Georgia

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 9.—Fresh from a series of triumphs in Germany, Clyde Burrows, eminent American baritone, former national league baseball star and all-Southern athlete, has arrived in New York, according to advice received by Atlanta friends today. He is shortly to appear on a country-wide concert tour, which is expected to bring him to Georgia where he is well known.

A graduate of Mercer University, of Macon, Ga., where he was star pitcher, Burrows was in 1910 named by Heismann, the former Walter Camp of the South, as a member of the All-Southern baseball team, selected from the leading colleges of the South.

During 1912 and 1913 he played with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and was later named to the Holyoke, under Dan O'Neill, in the old Connecticut State League. He is a native of Mystic, Connecticut. He was transferred to the New England league later on, and pitched for Lawrence, and later for Lowell.

Burrows sings in twelve languages, including Esperanto, in which language he was said to be the first to sing in this country.

Burrows, according to German newspaper critics, was hailed in Berlin and in Dresden as "a supreme interpreter of songs, a cosmopolitan among singers." The former baseball star sang in English, French, German, Italian and the Slavonic tongues, and was said to have been given one of the most extraordinary receptions ever accorded an American in Germany.

"Back in my school days in Mystic, my ambition in life was to sing well enough to win a position in the church choir," wrote Burrows to an Atlanta friend. "I had a certain lyrical ability as a boy, but dropped singing to take up baseball. After the unusual welcome I got in Germany I am definitely through with sports. From now on I will devote all my time to concert work."

The local camp of Woodmen of the World held their annual election of officers on last Monday night. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: James A. Gould, council commander; W. E. Kennedy, vice-commander; W. M. Hegmann, banker; W. B. Moore, clerk; Oscar Gerald, escort; J. A. Branson, watchman; Dave Gould, sentry, and D. P. Waters, manager. Following the election an oyster supper was served.

Six months after he had saved his dog from drowning, Walter Lawrence, of Chicago, was saved from asphyxiation by the animal.

REGISTER DEATHS FOR OWN SAFETY

Just what diseases and maladies are causing the most trouble in the State, or in any county or district of the State, are ascertained by the bureau of vital statistics of the State Board of Health, through the registration of deaths, according to Dr. T. S. Abernethy, State health commissioner and State registrar of vital statistics.

State certificates carry a medical certificate, to be signed by the physician who had charge of the case, assigning the exact cause. These certificates are scanned closely in the bureau of vital statistics and the causes grouped under one heading.

Thus, if some particular district shows up an abnormally large number of deaths from the same cause, the state board of health immediately steps into action to take steps to eradicate the cause which has been bringing about so many deaths.

The rate of death per 1,000 of population and not necessarily the actual number, governs the actions of the board in recognizing an epidemic.

What might be an epidemic in one locality, but which the entire state is free from, is another matter, and the board is not concerned with the local registrar in the militia district, it is acting not only to protect the rest of the people in the community but the remainder of the family as well.

The law requires that the undertaker or person in charge of the burial file the certificate immediately and obtain a burial or removal permit, with which the burial is illegal. In case one does not know the name of his local registrar, inquiry at the office of the ordinary of the county or the State Board of Health in Atlanta will bring the desired information promptly.

Free Post Graduate
The State Board of Health is happy to announce that definite arrangements have been made for the re-employment of the post-graduate school for physicians in practical obstetrics, four schools having been held last summer.

They will conduct a school every other week from December 2 to June 30. These schools will be held by Dr. J. R. McCord, Professor of Obstetrics at Emory University. They are made possible to our physicians by the Department of Labor, Children's Bureau of Washington, Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Division. Miss Abbott is very much interested in the welfare of women and children, and especially in the anxious to see a much-needed reduction in the death rate of maternity in Georgia, having next to the highest rate of any state in our union.

The first school to be held will "come to book" at the good city of Gainesville, the live county medical society having extended a most cordial invitation to Doctor McCord. This school will have the first session at three o'clock eastern time December 2, and will continue for five days. We hope that every doctor within driving distance of Gainesville will be on hand and attend every session of the five days. The State Board of Health does not believe that there will be a doctor who will miss this wonderful opportunity, this instruction being given without charge.

The series of lectures and the many moving pictures will be arranged so that each day will be given to a certain subject. The leading obstetricians of America have contributed pictures from their clinics; each will be worth a full day.

The second school will be held at Canton, December 16, and a third at Newnan December 30. Other dates will be announced later.

Child Hygiene Work Cut. Should Be Continued
We are indeed sorry to read the announcement that our State Board of Health will not be able to continue its program as fully as it has in the past few years, owing to the fact that our legislature did not provide sufficient funds. It will be recalled that this year, in its annual report, the board was increased only forty thousand dollars, and this fund will be divided by the different departments, so little will be available for maternity and child hygiene work.

We are indeed so—that this is so, as it has always appeared to us that most of our funds should be spent for the betterment of our mothers and babies.

Another bill has been introduced in the new congress appropriating a million dollars for work among the states along the same lines as the Sheppard-Towner law. Under this law Georgia has been expending about $60,000 annually. The legislature was requested to make appropriation to take the place of this fund, but they did not see fit to do so. The total appropriation for the entire work of the board was increased only forty thousand dollars, and this fund will be divided by the different departments, so little will be available for maternity and child hygiene work.

Seasonal Diseases
Crowding people into closed rooms, auditoriums and other places of assembly means an increase in all the infectious diseases. We should take every precaution to prevent measles, whooping cough, chicken pox, diphtheria, colds, sore throats, pneumonia and the like. Much can be done if we only would. One important thing is that no child who is sick should be sent to school. Every protective vaccine and serum should be used that has been proven successful. Ask your health officer or doctor about it.

Diet List Pelagra
A new diet list for this disease has just been issued by the State Board of Health. If interested write for this folder.

The school teachers of our girls should ask the State Board of Health for information about the classes for little girls known as Little Mother's League.

Vaccines for Colds; Is It Worth While?

Thousands of lives and much untold suffering are being saved each year with vaccines, serums and antitoxins. These recent marvelous triumphs of modern medical science. The most remarkable of these are vaccines for the prevention of smallpox, typhoid fever and rabies and the antitoxin for diphtheria, says our State Board of Health.

But there are many dragons yet to slay and one of the most terrible of these is the ordinary cold. He goes about like a wolf in sheep's clothing. He looks innocent enough and that is one reason why so many of us are victims of his voracious appetite. Like little innocent Red Riding Hood we say, "Why are you so terrible when you look so harmless?" "Because," sneezes a matter of fact, many such attacks are many other diseases, such as pneumonia, influenza, bronchitis, sinus trouble and even tuberculosis and because when once I fasten my claws on you I sometimes hold on for a long time."

People who are subject to chronic colds and acute attacks are quite naturally hunting about to find some means of prevention. Since such wonderful results have been obtained with vaccines in the prevention of smallpox, typhoid, diphtheria and other diseases, it is not surprising that we expect medical science to produce a vaccine for colds also, and, as a matter of fact, many such attempts have been made and there are several vaccines on the market for which wonderful claims are made.

But before any genuine reliable vaccine for any disease can be made, the special germ causing that disease must be known. Vaccines are made from the germ itself. In the case of colds, the germs are not made to rejoice at the presentation of so many beautiful flowers, which are an expression of sympathy in our sad bereavement and we can rejoice in the fact that our loss is God's eternal gain. CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the nurse, physicians and a host of friends who were so kind and loyal in administering unto the needs of our wife and mother in her illness and death. Our hearts were made to rejoice at the presentation of so many beautiful flowers, which were an expression of sympathy in our sad bereavement and we can rejoice in the fact that our loss is God's eternal gain. She cannot come back to us, but we can go to her, therefore we should be reconciled to God, for He doeth all things well.

Airplane Starts form A Speeding Hudson

An aviation stunt, said to have never before been attempted, was carried out successfully at Old Orchard Beach, when a Mohr airplane took off from the top of a speeding Hudson sedan. The car was driven by Joe J. Snow of Jine Point, Me., and the plane by Alexander Krapich of Lowell. The Hudson car, equipped with two up-rights from the running board, extending six inches above the top, and another upright from the tire carrier, was furnished by the Henry Kimball Company of Boston. Fastened to the tops of the two forward up-rights was a plank, on which the wheels of the plane rested. The tail skid rested on the plank by a coupling so arranged that it could be released by the pilot of the plane by pulling a string. The engine of the plane was just above the engine of the automobile, the propeller whirling in front of the automobile radiator. With both engines roaring, the Hudson started down the beach and in about a half mile had attained speed of fifty-two miles an hour. Krapich then showed his stick forward and brought the tail of the plane up off the bracket. He then pulled the string to disconnect the wheels and the plane rose.

SPELLS OF BACKACHE

"I HAVE used Cardui at intervals for sixteen years, when I suffered from weakness, and it always helped me. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and only get up to bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really is."

"When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I was weak and sickly. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui."

WINTER TIME MALARIA CONTROL

We know that everyone is interested in the control of the mosquito, and especially the one that transmits malaria. We have requested our State Board of Health to advise us as to the best thing we can do this winter to get ready for the spring and summer. We have the pleasure in giving you the advantage of this information.

There is an old adage, "In time of peace, prepare for war." This applies particularly to the cessation of hostilities between man and mosquito during the winter months. From the beginning of summer until the end of the mosquito season, the mosquito is the enemy of the human race. The purpose of this drawing blood is to put up a gallant fight for protection against the mosquito's weapon. It is not that there is no opportunity for control of such hostilities until the spring comes and the atmosphere is permanently chilled.

The question often asked the State Board of Health is what can we do to prevent the mosquito from coming in the winter months when the mosquito has ceased hostilities and the mosquito is in a dormant state. We attempt to answer this by stating that without standing water during the summer months the mosquito cannot propagate. Why then should we not during the winter months after the crops are laid by place all our labor resources on the water which is actually present. It can be done cheaper at the time of the year when labor is cheap. Why should not the farmer start now and take the necessary steps in the way of preparing for war in time of peace?

Another method which may be practiced during the winter months is the sterilization of the water carriers. The human being is a winter host for the malaria parasite. The human being is responsible for infecting the mosquito at the beginning of the warm season. The mosquito is a winter host for the malaria parasite. The human being is responsible for infecting the mosquito at the beginning of the warm season. The mosquito is a winter host for the malaria parasite. The Protection of Private Water Supply

One of the most important public health measures is the protection of our private water supplies. All public water supplies within the state are under careful supervision by the State Board of Health. Through field inspections and laboratory analyses, says our State Board of Health.

If a water is of impure quality determined by a bacteriological examination or by general supposition several methods may be applied for insuring safety. Water may be boiled for a period of five minutes. The fast taste resulting may be partially removed by pouring the water from one vessel to another several times or by adding a pinch of salt.

A well of water may be sterilized by the use of a solution of bleaching powder, commonly known as chlorine of lime or bleaching powder. This chemical may be purchased at a drug store in small tins. A fresh supply should be kept on hand. The chlorine is rather volatile and the chlorine is rather volatile and the chlorine is rather volatile.
